

1. Our Privacy Approach

The Aditya Publication website is primarily an informational website.

The website does not store personal information of visitors for the purpose of creating visitor accounts or customer profiles.

The website also does not provide online book purchasing or online payment facilities.

2. Information We Do Not Collect Through Online Book Purchases

Aditya Publication does not provide online book purchasing through this website.

Therefore, the website does not collect or store information such as:

Online shopping account information;

Online order information;

Shipping information for website purchases;

Online payment details;

Credit/debit card details;

UPI PINs or payment passwords.

There is no online checkout facility on the website.

3. Visitor Information

Aditya Publication does not intentionally collect or store personal information from visitors merely because they visit the website.

Visitors can browse the informational content of the website without creating an account.

The website may use basic technical technologies required for website operation.

Where third-party services such as hosting, security, analytics or similar technical services are used, those services may process limited technical information such as IP address, browser information or device information as part of normal internet or service operation.

Aditya Publication does not use the website to create or maintain personal visitor profiles.

Although the website does not maintain visitor accounts or online purchase records, we take reasonable measures to protect information voluntarily provided to us through communication channels.

However, no internet-based communication system can be guaranteed to be completely secure.

4. Data Retention

Information voluntarily provided to Aditya Publication through email, WhatsApp or other communication channels may be retained for as long as reasonably necessary to:

Respond to enquiries;

Provide requested information;

Maintain communication records;

Resolve issues;

Meet applicable legal requirements.

We do not intend to retain such information longer than reasonably necessary for these purposes.

5. Children's Privacy

The website is informational and does not intentionally request personal information from children.

If personal information is provided to us unintentionally, a parent or guardian may contact us to request appropriate action.

6. Your Privacy Choices

If you have voluntarily provided personal information to Aditya Publication, you may contact us to:

Ask what information we hold about you;

Request correction of inaccurate information;

Request deletion where appropriate;

Withdraw consent for promotional communications;

Raise a privacy-related concern.

We may need to verify the identity of the requester before processing certain requests.

7. Changes to This Privacy Policy

Aditya Publication may update this Privacy Policy from time to time.

Any changes will be published on this page with an updated effective date.
